

Asher Haig

Education

- Ph.D Candidate at Emory University in Comparative Literature, working on Artificial Intelligence, Languages of Programming, and Interface Design (Current)
- Northwestern University, Bachelor of Arts from the Comparative Literature Honors Program, 2004. Senior Thesis: "Kafka's Law and the Body of Michael K".
- Dartmouth College, 2000-2001. Transferred to Northwestern University to complete study.

Publications

- "From the Other Side, I Look at Myself (We See Each Other)", Tiresias, University of Michigan, 2008.
- Book Review, Ethics of the Body, in MLA, 2008.
- Don't Panic: A User's Guide to Kritik, 2005 (158 Pages)
- Kritik: Becoming the Teacher that One Already Is, 2005 (250 Pages)
- The Database Object, a PHP Black-Box for Automated Generation of Web Database Interfaces, 2005
- The Dartmouth Contemporary, February 2001, Vol 2:2, "Normal, USA."
- Victory Briefs: Kritik Handbook, 2000-2001.
- National Forensic League Rostrum, Vol 74 Number 9, "Response to Dr. Glass's Essay on Foucault and Heidegger," 2000.

Writing in Progress

- Computing Machinations and Intelligence: Turing's Quantum Mechanics (Dissertation)
- An Aspect Introduction to Object Orientation

Coding in Progress

- Ruby on Magnets: An Aspect-Web Framework
- Textmosis: Reading and Conceptual Summarization Technologies

Teaching Experience

- Lecturer at Emory University: "Figuring the Body: From Medicine to Cybernetics" (Fall, 2008), "Before the Law: Kafka's Psychoanalytic Science" (Spring, 2008), "Quantum Metaphysics: Gendering Space and Time" (Fall, 2009).
- Co-Director Undergraduate Reading Group at Emory University, 2007-2010
- Director of Critical Studies in Policy Debate, University of North Texas Mean Green Speech and Debate Workshops, Summer 2006; Developed curriculum and syllabus for the first debate seminar focusing primarily on critical theory.
- Guest Lecturer in Critical Theory for Lincoln Douglas Debate, University of North Texas Mean Green Speech and Debate Workshops, Summer 2006.
- Instructor for Fullerton College Debate, 2005
- Lecturer and Instructor in Critical Theory and Policy Debate, University of North Texas Mean Green Speech and Debate Workshops, Summer 2004 and Summer 2005.
- Lecturer and Instructor in Critical Theory and Policy Debate, University of Texas National Institute on Forensics, Summer 2001.
- Mentor for Kennedy High School for Chicago Urban Debate League, 2001-2002.
- Lecturer and Instructor in Critical Theory and Policy Debate, Northwestern University Coon-Hardy Debate Institute, Summer 2001.
- Instructor for Churchill High School Varsity Debate, 2000-2001.
- Lecturer and Teaching Assistant at Dartmouth Debate Institute, Summer 2000.
- Computer Instruction, Dallas Children's Advocacy Center, 1999.
- Computer Technical Assistant Online via Internet Relay Chat (Volunteer), 1995-2000.

Asher Haig

Languages

- C
- Objective C
- Ruby
- Javascript
- Java
- SQL
- HTML/DHTML/XML/CSS
- PHP
- C++ (Limited)
- x86 ASM (Limited)
- German
- Spanish
- Japanese (Limited)
- French (Reading Only)